

TURF PROPHIT™

It's time. Work in the know!

Measure It. Manage It.

Golf course operations are always looking for ways to improve cost management. Where do we invest and why? If cuts are required, where? Generally speaking, the golf course maintenance budget is often one of the largest line items within operations and is often one of the first places reviewed for cost management changes.

Turf Prophit is a cloud based software that provides a greater understanding and awareness of the golf course maintenance budget, synchs with course service standards and provides insight into the value that course maintenance provides to any operation.

Turf Prophit provides an in-depth look into how the maintenance budget is spent, line item-by-line item and dollar-by-dollar. It enables seamless scheduling and collection of key maintenance inputs, and allows courses to organize and sort each of those inputs within a database for on-demand analysis while easing the paper related workload of today's maintenance departments. It also increases reaction times to budget shifts within a golfing season and assists with budget development from season to season. Turf Prophit allows for a more thorough evaluation, deeper understanding and educated consideration during current and future budgeting exercises.
